Dragons Make Perfect Playmates

NEW YORK: I Love My Dragon is a vibrantly colored board book for babies and toddlers featuring a little boy and his big dragon – the best friends from the award-winning When a Dragon Moves In.

This pair of playmates have tons of fun together indoors and out, at the beach and pool, making music and reading, and caring for the boy's baby brother. Littlest listeners can join in on the dragon adventures and then settle down as the boy and dragon snuggle at nap time.

Just as When a Dragon Moves In and When a Dragon Moves In Again captured the hearts and imaginations of elementary-age children, now the youngest family members can experience dragon friendship with this sturdy, age-appropriate board book created especially for them.

Jodi Moore is the author of the award-winning When a Dragon Moves In and When a Dragon Moves In Again, and an inspiring speaker at schools and writing conferences. She believes that castles and hearts are best when filled with family, music, and love. She is the mother of two grown sons, and lives with her husband Larry in Boalsburg, PA.

Howard McWilliam is the award-winning illustrator of When a Dragon Moves In, When a Dragon Moves In Again, I Need My Monster, Hey, That's MY Monster!, and How I Met My Monster. He is the cover artist of The Week (US and UK), and has illustrated dozens of books for children. He lives in Cheltenham, England, with his wife Rebecca and three young sons.
